A Boston girl said the other day that it seemed almost like home. She had been at a French club in the morning, at a musical club in the afternoon, and at a scientific club

"JOSIAH,"
I never kin forget the day
There we went on the river bank,
And kept on hours a-talkin',
He twisted up my apron string
An' folded it together,
An' said he thought for harvest time
'Twas cur'us kind o' weather.
The sun went down as we sat there;
Josiah seemed uneasy,
And mother she began to call:
'Loweezy! O Loweezy!'
An' then Josiah spoke right up
As I was just a-startin',
An' said, 'Loweezy, what's the use
Of us two ever partin'?'
It kind o' took me by surprise,
An' yet I knew 'twas comin',
I'd heard it all the summer long
In every wild bee's hummin';
I studied out the way I'd act;
But, law! I couldn't do it;
I meant to hide my love from him,
But seems as if he knew it;
He lookin' down into my eyes
He must a seen the fire,
An' ever since that hour I've loved
An' worshipped my Josiah.

WHAT OF EUROPE?

War in the Old World is no new thing. The ever varying and never satisfied ambitions of nations, each viewing with chagrin or alarm the power of others; the thirst for empire and the greed of conquest and domination offer a ceaseless menace to the peace and stability of all European countries. Continental Europe is little better than a slumbering volcano, ever ready to burst into eruption at some point. A war among some of these restless nationalities is too common to excite surprise.

But now there is something more to be apprehended than the present generation has witnessed, something that threatens a cataclysm among the mighty empires of the East. Again the chief disputants are Russia and England, and while the immediate centre of difficulty is at the gateway to India, Russia is undoubtedly looking beyond the fight in Asia to some turn of fortune's wheel that will make her mistress of the long coveted entrance to the Black Sea. Forty years ago the mighty Nicholas gave to Turkey the enduring title of "The Sick Man," in that notable conference with the English Minister. In that conference the wily Russ said: "We have on our hands a very sick man. The sick man is dying, and it will never do to allow such an event to take us by surprise. We must really come to some understanding."

What Nicholas wanted was to take possession of "the sick man's" estate; and the invitation was, in diplomatic language, to England to join in the administration. The evident intention of the czar ended in the humiliating war that witnessed Russia's defeat by France and England.

A new generation has arisen and a new man rules the great Russian Empire, but there is still the same desire to administer to the debilitated Turk, and to plant one foot on the banks of the Bosphorus. Learning nothing from experience, or smothering under the recollections of previous defeats, there still exists the determination to absorb Turkey. In a war of diplomacy the czar will conquer. The Berlin Congress of 1878 gave to Russia the provinces of Adrian, Kars, and Banton; in Asia Minor, with three-quarters of a million of inhabitants, while England received the Island of Cyprus.

But something more than diplomacy now portends, and the question is: What will be the extent of the trouble? Will it be the Slav, the Teuton and the Turk against the Gael and the Briton? If England and Russia engage in war for empire, it can hardly be confined to them. The worshippers of "Napoleon le Grand" have not forgotten or forgiven the horrors of the campaign of 1812, and the descendants of the numerous Frenchmen who witnessed the retreat from Moscow are perhaps not satisfied with the more recent glories of Balaklava and Sevastopol. They would rejoice at an opportunity to still further obliterate the unpleasant memories inspired by the defeat and sufferings of their grand-sires.

But there is Germany to be considered. An alliance between England and France might force Bismarck to side with Russia. This would intensify the feeling on the part of the French. They are still smarting under Gravelotte and Sedan, and nothing would be more soothing to their feelings than an opportunity to wipe out the humiliating episode of 1870-1. Without considering other governments that might be drawn in to the struggle, those we have mentioned are sufficient to shake the Old World to its centre.

In Russia and Germany every man is a soldier and every soldier a machine. If they lack the bull dog courage of the English or the fire of the French, they possess the perfect discipline which transforms an army into a mighty engine, moving with one mind and one impulse, knowing no will but that of its leaders, and no duty but that of obedience to orders. And with them the apathetic Turk, whose "Kismet" rounds up the measure of responsibility, and who would, of all the contestants, be fighting for his home, his religion and his natural existence. Such combatants, with modern appliances and advantages, would carry on a war rivaling the fabled combats of the gods.

Into this sanguinary conflict England certainly would enter under the greatest disadvantage. She is already engaged in a war as perplexing and vexatious as it is unsatisfactory. To engage in a struggle with Russia, while entangled in the burning sands of Egypt, would seem the most fatuous course imaginable, but it may be said that England has never been wanting in pluck and audacity, and probably will not hesitate to plunge into a conflict which must, to all human view, inevitably result in her downfall as a first-class power. But England has a vast power of rejuvenescence, and might, as she has so often done under apparently desperate circumstances, come out with no loss of prestige.

In the event of such a struggle as we have indicated, the United States would be a looker-on, and a commercial beneficiary, avoiding all entangling alliances while she supplied the wants of the struggling combatants.—Montgomery Advertiser.

GENERAL NEWS.

Becky Jones, who had lain in jail 44 weeks in New York city for refusing to testify in the Hammersly will case, was released by the Supreme Court on last Saturday. Becky was an old servant of the Hammersly family and she stubbornly refused to give away the family secrets.

Not long ago one of Barnum's elephants was found to be in danger of losing his sense of sight. A surgeon who had been called to examine the huge animal declared that if the elephant could be induced to submit to an operation the eye could be saved. Accordingly the poor animal was tied down, and some caustic fluid was dropped into one of his eyes. He roared with pain, for the treatment was severe. On the following day the eye that had been treated was much better, but the surgeon thought he was going to have a terrible time in operating on the other eye. Fancy his surprise to find that as soon as the great beast heard his voice he stretched himself on the ground and peacefully submitted to the terrible ordeal. The elephant and simply recognized the skill and friendly purpose of his operator.

Ben Perley Pore thus goes back about the Adams family. George W. Adams, the oldest son of John Quincy Adams, committed suicide in 1829, when, on account of his dissipated habits, his cousin, Mary Helen, rejected him, and engaged herself to his brother, John Adams, who also became an invalid. Mr. W. C. Johnson, of New York, a son of Alexander B. Johnson, President of the Ontario Branch bank, in that city, married a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Adams. His mother was a daughter of Charles Adams, the second son of the elder Adams, a man of dissipated habits, and a resident of the city of New York, where he died in the year 1809. Chas. Adams married a Miss Smith, of an old Long Island family, and the sister of Col. William S. Smith, who married the daughter of John Adams, and was his secretary in London in 1784. Mr. John Adams died at Washington in the summer of 1829.

When Hon. E. B. Washburne was United States Minister to France during the empire, he passed through a very embarrassing experience with a degree of adroitness which must have won the admiration of the very men who saw and appreciated the cause of his embarrassment. He was at a court dinner, and it was the custom at these dinners when the Empress and the ladies were about to retire for the gentlemen to rise and step back from the table so that she might pass down the line between them. Mr. Washburne's feet were troubling him; he had slipped off his patent leather pumps under the table to ease them, and when the Empress gave the signal for departure he was so absorbed in conversation that he had not time to put his pumps on again. In his stocking feet he stood back with the rest, grave and dignified, apparently unconscious of the somewhat ridiculous figure he made.

The New Mexican Minister a Poet.
One of the poems of Mr. Jackson, the new Minister to Mexico, is called "The Live Oak," and contains the following lines:
With his stately air, that grave old tree,
He stands like a hooded monk,
With the gray moss waving solemnly
From his shaggy limbs and trunk.
But a mourner sad is the hoary tree,
A mourner sad and lone,
And is clad in funeral drapery
For the long since dead and gone.
He falls, he falls, to become our guard,
The bulwark of the free,
And his bosom of steel is proudly bared
To brave the raging sea.

Notes From Our Neighbors.
The Anniston Watchman says the Clardy Bros., will resume work soon at their Oxanna brick yard on a large scale.
The Episcopal Convention which was to have been held in Anniston has been changed to Mobile and will meet in that city May 6th.
The Watchman says that Happy Lon Gardner, of that city "skipped" a few nights ago, leaving his creditors in the lurch.
A party from the Emerald Isle, brought before Mayor Hight of Anniston on a charge of assault and battery, addressed the Mayor as "your Lordship and Worship."
It looks as if this sort of taffy might have got away with the Mayor, but he fined Dennis $8 all the same.

The Cross Plains Post tells of the finding of ore on the place of Mr. John H. Price, living between Cross Plains and Jacksonville, which the United States mint pronounces worth one hundred and thirty-two dollars in gold and twenty dollars and twenty cents in silver to the ton of rock taken from the mine. This is a remarkably rich find. Colorado miners who have been prospecting in this country believe firmly in the existence of precious metals here. They say the find of silver ore in Cleburne is as fine as the ore from the Colorado silver mines.

Two mad dogs were killed in Cross Plains Thursday. The Post advises the people to be careful of these messengers of death.
Dr. J. B. Cowdon of Cross Plains was very low at the date of the last issue of the Post. He is a most excellent man and friends in all parts of the county wish that he may be restored to health.
Editor McClelen of the Post went to Atlanta last week to talk the business men of that place up on the subject of advertising.
The Post gives the Little Watchman at Anniston a good notice and hearty encouragement. This is the right spirit.
The Post has a good word to say of the business of the East and West Road. This Road is a very fine property and will pay better and better as the time goes by. The management of the road is very accommodating and clever. It is exceptionally well officered.
The Post has been "booming" a picnic to come off at Bordon's Springs, Cleburne county, on the line of the East & West Railroad, April 30. It will be grand affair. People will be there from Cartersville to Broken Arrow, from Jacksonville to Cave Spring Ga. We hope the East & West will run its special down as far as the Junction to give the people of this place an opportunity of joining the picnic party.
The Post advises the merchants of Cross Plains to trade with a Cedarstown firm which advertises in its columns and avoid an Anniston firm which refuses to advertise with it.
A correspondent of the Post asks the brethren some very "searching" questions, for example: "Are you strictly religious in your dealings with your fellow man?"
"Do you waste your time in idle pastimes?"
"Is your conversation on the streets so seasoned with grace that the poor blinded sinners, who are daily around, can see the value of religion?" &c?
We fear the brethren will have to get around pretty lively if they attain this high standard within anything like a reasonable time.

The editor of the Republican left Tuesday afternoon to attend the Press Convention of Alabama, which met in Talladega on that day.

A Curious Residence.
In traveling through Cleburne county, near Rowell's Station, on the East & West Railroad, some days ago, we passed a house built in the shape of a railroad passenger coach. It was on wheels and provided with a pole like a wagon pole. Whenever its owner gets ready to move he hitches steers to the pole and proceeds to change his location at once. He is said to be a most singular man, but very ingenious at all kinds of work from watch repairing to all kinds of carpentry and a useful man to any community in which he locates. He works when it suits him, and it takes very little money to supply his wants. He has been at his present location something over a year. The freshest last winter caught his house, floated it off, but he succeeded in tying it up to a tree with a chain he has attached to it and swam out with coolness, carrying his most valuable household goods with him.

Having been furnished with a proof sheet of the new road law for Calhoun and other counties from the office of the State printer, we are enabled to publish the same in full this week. The Commissioners Court met Tuesday and at last reports were having a hard old time over it.

The farmers in this section are getting along well with their planting operations and are more hopeful.

Mercury and Potash Vanquished.
Mr. Wiley F. Hood, known to almost every man, woman and child in Athens, bears the following testimony as to the virtues of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.):
For twelve years I suffered from mercurial poison, with all its torturing pains. I was treated by several physicians, and was dosed on iodide of potassium abundantly. This treatment increased my trouble. My blood was thoroughly infected; my skin was thick and yellow; my stomach was weak so that I could not retain my food; my person was broken out with sores which became offensive ulcers, and my strength was gone. Mercury brought on rheumatism, and potash had ruined my stomach, and I thought there was nothing left for me to do but to die—so thought many of my friends as I went hobbling along the street. I tried all the remedies within reach but to no avail. At last a friend suggested the use of Swift's Specific. Like many other drowning men, I was ready to catch at any straw that came in sight. I procured six bottles from Dr. Long. The first bottle gave me hope. The nausea of the stomach disappeared, and by the time I had taken the third the hard lumps on my neck went away; the ulcers were healed; my complexion cleared up; my skin smoothed off; and my strength began to return. I have taken in all about thirty bottles. It has made a new man of me. I am a man of 63 years, but am strong and vigorous, eat anything and do any kind of work. I am sound and well. It is my honest opinion that Swift's Specific has taken me from the grave's mouth and added many years to my life. I would recommend it to suffering humanity everywhere, not as a universal panacea for all diseases, but as a specific for all blood and skin diseases, such as blood poison, rheumatism, scrofula, eczema, tetter and catarrh, for I have seen it tried on most all of these. I am ready and more than willing to answer all inquiries tending the above points. I am well known in Athens, and refer to any one or all of the old citizens of this city.

The Best in the Market.
I have been afflicted with a blood humor and indigestion for fifteen years. I have used various medicines, but with little purpose. I have received more benefit from Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) than anything else I have ever taken. It is the best blood purifier on the market.

Ed Perkins in Virginia.
HISTORIC HILLS.
As you pass through Virginia over and beyond Arlington heights almost every hilltop has a history. To-day I noticed a little hill out of Alexandria. Here in 1861 was a fortification covering Alexandria and the Grange and Alexandria railroad. Here, after the first Bull Run, I saw the first straggling zouaves from Ellsworth's regiment. They were gunless and hatless.
"We are all there is left," they said. "All the rest were killed. That terrible black horse cavalry cut us all up, and—"
At the end of Long Bridge I saw a few hundred more zouaves.
"All killed but us," they commenced. "The black horse cavalry—"
In Washington a few hours afterwards I presume I saw 200 zouaves. "Yes," they said, wringing their hands, "a few of us escaped and—"
Two weeks afterwards a call was made in New York to reorganize the zouaves, when 1,200 responded to the roll call.
"You see," they said, "we had orders to fall back, and as no one countermanded it, we fell back clean to New York."

Twenty-five Year's Change.
When the army left Virginia there were no trees between Manassas and Washington. All had been cut down for firewood or to make a clean sweep for the cannon. To-day the woods are all back again. I notice where hard wood was cut down pine has taken its place. Manassas Junction is now Manassas village. Everywhere I see the Catholic church taking the place of the orthodox churches of the past. The edict has gone forth from Rome to Catholicize the negroes of the south. It will be done.
Richmond is the same old Richmond of 1861. The city consists of 500 good homes, 1,700 negro huts, and 400 tobacco warehouses and tobacco factories. I got tired looking at these warehouses and factories. After looking at 350 of them it became the same old story. At last, when I came to one I would say to the driver:
"Another tobacco factory, Caesar?"
"Yes, massa, dis is a plug factory."
"Don't stop," I said. "Drive on. Let the plug go."
Further on we came to a very large building and a very ancient building.
"Is that a tobacco factory, too?" I asked my driver.
"No, sah, dat's a meetin' house, sah. Dat's whar Patrick Henry made his great speech, sah."
"What did Patrick say?" I asked.
"Why, he done say: 'Gib me liberty or gib me death.'"
"Well, which did they give him?"
"Dey gav him bofe, sah, bofe."

VIRGINIA NEGROES.
I find the negroes in southern Virginia pretty badly off. They do all the work that is done, but get little pay.
"I have twenty negroes about the house," said the landlord at the hotel in Charlottesville, "but not one of them sleeps in a bed."
"Where do they sleep?" I asked.
"God knows. I suppose some of them sleep around the kitchen stove. Come into the office at two o'clock in the morning and you'll find five or six laying on the floor with their heads to the stove."
"And they never undress?"
"Not till hot weather."
"And they never bathe?"
"Not till the water in the river gets warm. In fact," said the landlord, scratching his head reflectively, "I don't reckon whites or blacks do much bathing here in the winter. It's too dog-gone cold."

When Bragg evacuated Chattanooga one of his colonels left a young wife behind. She was from South Carolina, and a thorough Yankee-hater. She was at first comfortably provided with provisions, but as the days went by and she divided with this neighbor and that, her stock ran low. She finally had nothing left but corn meal and dried peas, and one night a servant girl stole all the meal. Other women were appealing to the federals, but this one determined to die first. She had pea soup, pea pudding, and peas cooked in various other shapes, and when the peas gave out she gave a negro a dollar to cut her a steak from a mule which had fallen dead in a field across the way. She had made up her mind to brave it through, but the mule meat was worse than the blue-coats and she locked up her pride and applied for federal rations.—Detroit Free Press.

Mrs. Garfield thus disposes of what to many persons was a painful story. One of her friends in Cleveland, Ohio, has furnished the following to the Associated: "The report that has been extensively circulated that Mrs. Garfield is to be married undoubtedly originated from some malicious person who wished to annoy her, as it has been authoritatively ascertained that the rumor is utterly false; having no foundation whatever. Mrs. Garfield has only recently heard of it. She still wears mourning, and matrimony has no place in her thoughts."

Mr. Thomas Judson Cluverius, the young lawyer under arrest for murdering Fanny Lillian Madison by plunging her into the reservoir last week, at Richmond, Va., is a very devout person, and fills his hours in jail with prayer and song. On this account he is held by many to be innocent, while in consideration of the facts that he professes to be an ardent Baptist and shows a marked preference for the hymn, "On Jordan's Stormy Banks I Stand," others are inclined to think that he may have dropped the girl into his favorite element without murderous intent. He declines to talk on any but religious subjects.

Trees have been found in Africa which were computed to be 5,150 years old, and a cypress in Mexico is said to have reached a still greater age. The oldest individual specimen of any species—in fact, the oldest living thing upon the globe—is probably the cypress of Santa Maria del Tule, in the Mexican state of Oaxaca. If estimates of tree ages are to be relied upon the life of this venerable forest monarch may have spanned the whole period of written history. At last accounts it was still growing, and in 1851, when Humboldt saw it, it measured forty-two feet in diameter, 146 in circumference, and 282 feet between the extremities of two opposite branches.

Death of B. H. Denman Sr.

One by one the old landmarks pass from time to eternity, leaving fragrant memories, and severing the ties which bind us to the far past. On Wednesday morning, April 8th, this aged man breathed his last after a painful illness of some length and a gradual decline of over a twelvemonth.

Mr. Denman was a good citizen, an honest, and hard working man; and one who had accumulated a nice property by frugal industry. He leaves several children—well settled in life—to mourn his loss. May his worn and wearied form be glorified and enwrapped in the beatific robes of the blest.

That Dirty Dandruff.

Dandruff is dirty and disagreeable in every way. It soils the clothing continually, and is accompanied by a hardly less annoying sensation of itching. The scalp is diseased. There is nothing in the world so thoroughly adapted to this trouble as Parker's Hair Balsam. It cleanses and heals the scalp, stops the falling hair and restores its original softness, gloss and color. Is not only highly perfumed, an elegant dressing. Very economical, as only a small occasional application keeps the hair in perfect condition. April 4-1m.

Good news to the ladies! New and beautiful embroidery! We received this week one hundred pieces of the newest patterns of Hamburg and Batiste edging and insertings. Our Army of Invasion.

Flushed with the memories of the naval success of the past twenty years, two hundred and twenty-nine marines set sail yesterday for the seat of war on the isthmus. Inspired by the invigorating air of "The Girl I Left Behind Me," this advance guard of the grand army of Central American invasion, this amphibious and strictly Pinafoorian phalanx, awakened the enthusiasm of the multitude who witnessed their departure—enthusiasm dashed with no sinister doubts or fears for their safety as to life or limb. The ruined and starving town of Aspinwall is as free from danger as Hoboken or section. Island, so far as the expected marines are concerned, and with care in diet, heat, the exposure to the tropic, the gallant army may be expected home again, unharmed, in due season.

Small Loans.

In addition to larger loans which we are now daily negotiating through the Corbin Banking Co., of New York, we are now prepared to negotiate, through another medium in New York, fifty thousand dollars in small loans, ranging from three hundred to one hundred dollars; on one, two, three, four or five years time, with mortgage on farm lands as security. These small loans are quickly negotiated. In securing these loans it is necessary for us to trace title to the lands offered as security as far back as twenty-five years; and hence parties applying for loans should bring all the old deeds to the land they can find. Attention to this will save much trouble and secure a more speedy negotiation of the loan in every instance. STEVENSON & GRANT.

RHEUMATISM.

Although a practitioner of near twenty years, my mother induced me to procure B. B. B. for her. She had been confined to her bed several months with Rheumatism which had stubbornly resisted all the usual remedies. Within twenty-four hours after commencing B. B. B. I observed marked relief. She has just commenced her third bottle and is nearly as active as ever, and has been in the front yard with "rake in hand," cleaning up. Her improvement is truly wonderful and immensely gratifying.

Settling from Cross Plains.

Easter was a beautiful day, and our citizens generally turned out to church. Rev. W. A. Montgomery delivered an appropriate discourse at the Methodist church.

All of our Sunday schools are doing finely. I am glad to say that nearly all the young men in town attend Sunday school at one or the other of the churches.

By the way, this suggests a query. What has become of the County Sunday School Convention? This was to have been held at our sister town, Oxford, last year, but the chairman of the Executive Committee never called the convention together. We ought to keep up these conventions, for your scribe believes that they stimulate the Sunday school work.

The annual coming together of Sunday school workers in mode of conducting and carrying on the work, cannot fail to be productive of good. If no other good is effected it will certainly excite to greater activity in the work. By all means let us have one this year, and I suggest at Oxford.

The first last Saturday night did not do any damage to vegetation. We have the promise of an enormous fruit yield this year.

Am sorry to announce the critical illness of Dr. J. B. Cowden, one of our oldest and most useful citizens. His sickness brought to his bedside, his children, Mrs. Claude Woolf, of Knoxville, and Mr. David Cowden of Stanton, Ala.

I hear much complaint of bad colds, principally among children. Messrs. Burnett and Shropshire, of the Coosa River News, passed through our town last Monday on their way to the Press Convention at Talladega.

What Parents Fear.

Many persons—especially parents—object to many quack nostrums as likely to engender or encourage a love for strong drink. They are right. Better die of disease than of drunkenness. The use of Parker's Tonic does not involve this danger. It not only builds up the system, cures all ailments of the stomach, liver and kidneys, but it stimulates without intoxicating and absolutely cures the appetite for liquor.

Don't fail to call on Ullman Bros., Anniston, and you will save money.

A Brother of President Grover Cleveland was well known in New Orleans during the war. He was the chief clerk of Colonel Sheldon Sturgeon, who managed the mustering and enlisting and the drafting of federal soldiers under General Canby in this city early in 1863. He was a modest but thorough business man, and many of our citizens will remember him kindly on account of the favors and courtesies received at his hands. After the war he went to Nassau and established a store and hotel. On his way to New York in a steamer in 1872 he was drowned.

A Tennessee farmer tells of an extensive traveller, a native of Illinois, that he met lately. To the traveller in question is attributed the following statement: "Whenever I come, 'said he, 'across a section in which the prevailing farming is mere soil-culture there is to be seen retrogression—no money, no enterprise, bankruptcy. When I find a stock country—horses, mules, cattle—then I find a plenty of money, good houses, barns on all hands signs of prosperity."

A BACHELOR'S NECKTIES.

They lie on my table, red, purple and green. In fact, all the colors that ever was seen.

I find them in cupboards, in corners and nooks. I find them in drawers, in boxes and books.

The wrecks of past fashion, they gleam on my sight. Each one a reminder of hours sad or bright.

Ah! well I remember, poor ribbon of blue. How my heart beat with hope as I proudly donned you.

How two lovely eyes on your bright wings were cast. 'Twas a glimpse of delight, but 'tis over and past.

And royal tie of purple and showy tie of red. Beneath you has nestled a fair, sunny head.

Whose tresses of gold, once the charm of my life, Now shine on the head of another man's wife.

A TEXAS INCIDENT.

TEXAS SIFTINGS.
A few years after the late unpleasantness between the states, a young student of Blackstone, then a resident of Union Springs, Alabama, decided to cast his lot in the far west.

After keeping him dancing for half an hour, they allowed him to depart, and the young limb of the law immediately packed his trunk, and on the following morning was speeding.

The subject of this sketch is now a prominent attorney of Gadsden, Alabama, and is widely known throughout the State.

A LITERATURE WHICH APPEALS TO HEARTS.
Everything has its literature. Around the most prosaic duties of life, the factors of civilization, the spots of ancient and modern times, a literature gathers, as crystals gather around a central spar.

With hopeful anticipations and bright prospects pictured by friends, an early autumn found him speeding on his way to his imaginary haven.

Considering Texas the same all over, he determined to carry out his plan by stopping and opening up an office. After spending several days viewing the town and surrounding country, and finding his presence unnoticed by the settlers, he determined to stir around and rake up acquaintances.

Noticing some workmen building a house, he proceeded to ask the patronage of these "leather heads."

With his shoulders thrown back and eyes squared to the front he marched down to the house with a regular military step of thirty-two inches.

On turning from the road to reach the building, he made a complete right flank, as if a whole company of military cadets were depending on him as a guide.

Reaching his destination he dropped his hands to his side in an "attention squad" style, and came to a quick stiff halt.

"Good morning, gentlemen," said he in a soft, smooth voice.

"How's your body?" answered a deep voice from one of the party who had the appearance of a boss.

"What you from, your yuinn, and when're you coming back?"

hung unusually low, and trees were uprooted, and fences blown down, and we expected the house soon to yield to the fury of the gale, steal into a corner and repeat these lines of simple faith.

The literature which has gathered around this prayer has its burlesque, as well as its pathos. The following instance has been ascribed to too many men for us to say positively it was such a one.

Two Congressmen were conversing, and a freak of mind utterly inexplicable led them to refer to religion. Forthwith one of them began to eulogize the Lord's Prayer as most touching and eloquent in its diction; he concluded by offering to bet $10 that his brother could not repeat it.

The $10 bill was covered, and the Congressman began: "Now I lay me down to sleep," and repeated that prayer to the end. "I really didn't think you could do it. The money is yours."

Perhaps the recurrence of the word Lord is what led to this ignorance.

A large number of poems have been written on this prayer—from twelve to twenty lines being taken for each line of the prayer. The shortest and one of the cutest has some rounds anonymously. In the anthology before me no name is attached. Here it is:

"Now I lay me down to sleep, And the Lord my soul to keep; If I should die before I wake, I pray the Lord my soul to take."

Ah, Mr. Preacher, here is a faith that argues your theology down: "God knows all the rest." It is like the faith of David when he wrote in the most plaintive of psalms: "He knoweth our frame; He remembereth that we are dust."

A mother says she saw her youngest child die, be shrouded and buried, and did not shed a tear. The evening after the funeral she was listening to the prayer of her now only child, and when the weak voice piped, "If I should die," she thought of the one whose spirit the Lord had taken.

The sketches of the life of the Rev. Dr. Notrel, that he sank into second childhood. The last hour of his life was peculiarly tender and impressive. He lay on his bed blind and apparently unconscious. His wife sat by his bedside, and upon his request sang the songs of his youth. He was hushed to repose by them, like a child on his pillow. Watts' cradle hymn, "Hush, my dear, hush, and slumber," seemed especially soothing. Visions of home floated before him, and the name of his mother was often on his lips.

"Let us pray," he said, and all the family and friends present knelt. He clasped his hands and began: "Now I lay me down to sleep. His wife waited for him to continue. He had fallen asleep in Jesus."

It is not proposed in this article to do more than suggest what others can do better than the present writer. Let the literature of this prayer be collected. Almost every mother can contribute to it, and he is to be pitied who would find no pleasure in it. There are common folks in the world who do not care for the protoplasmic nomads or earth-worms, who can not appreciate the essays with hard names which appear in many periodicals, but they have smiles and tears for what is a faithful transcript of every-day life. The literature of the heart and of home is what they love, and after all, is the holiest and best.—St. Louis Republican.

Appointment Clerk Higgins has found out that a young lady employed in the treasury department has for nearly two years given one-half her monthly salary, $62.50, to a lady outside of the department.

She was anxious to obtain employment, and offered to give one-half of her salary to any one who would secure her a position in the treasury. A lady possessed of influence secured her a position.

The young lady is an excellent clerk and Mr. Higgins will see that she hereafter gets all of her pay, even if he has to issue to her another appointment in order to relieve her from the obligation under which she now is to the lady who secured her the position.

BULLDOZING A BRIDE.
How Bold Barrios Won His Wife—Rough on the Old Man.

The number in which he got his wife illustrates the character and methods of the man. Being on a journey in the interior, he was entertained by a merchant of some note, who had a daughter, a rosebud of a girl, whose beauty struck a responsive chord in the heart of the widower president.

Before leaving the place he informed his host that he desired to make the girl his wife, but as she was not quite old enough to be married he wished her sent to school and educated in English and French conversation, in music, embroidery and painting.

In about two years he thought she would be of sufficient age and accomplishments to preside in the presidential palace, when he would formally ask the honor of her hand in marriage.

This proposition rather staggered the country merchant, and he was only able to reply, "If the girl is yours," but in his mind he determined that no daughter of his should ever be the wife of Rufino Barrios.

The president, however, kept an eye on the family, and twice sent an officer to remind the merchant of the school arrangement before the father carried out. He also advertised extensively that he had selected the maiden as his future wife, and would marry her as soon as her education was complete.

The two years passed and Barrios claimed his bride. The girl refused to marry him, and the father sustained her in the refusal, expressing his views of his would-be son-in-law in no guarded terms.

To speak evil of the king is treason here, as it used to be in England in the time of Henry VIII, and the country merchant was promptly arrested. His property was confiscated for the use of the government, and he was sent to work in the streets with a ball and chain on his leg.

It sounds like a fifteenth century romance, but every one in Guatemala knows the story is true.

Finally, the girl, frightened at her father's distress, gave in and begged the old gentleman to yield his consent. He reluctantly did so, and attended the most brilliant wedding feast that was ever known in Central America.

The bride received a diamond necklace and coronet, $500,000 in money, and the finest residence in Guatemala. The father was released from arrest, his property was restored to him, he was established in the banking business, and became the fiscal agent of the government, which was worth a small fortune to him every year.

Barrios very generously gave the old man, and the two are now great chums.

Mrs. Barrios is the loveliest woman in Guatemala, beautiful in character as well as in person, socially brilliant and graceful, charitable beyond all precedent in a country where the poor are usually permitted to take care of themselves, generous and hospitable, a good mother to a fine family of children, and a devoted wife, loyal to all the president's ambition, and an enthusiastic supporter of all his schemes.

Their rule courtship intensified the devotion of their married life, and the most ardent admirer of President Barrios to-day in his own household. There is a tender spot in the tyrant's heart, for he is devotedly attached to his wife and children, whose portraits stand always before him upon his desk in the executive office.

Like a wise man who knows the perils which constantly surround him, and the uncertainty of the head which wears a crown in these countries, he has made ample provision for his family by purchasing for Mrs. Barrios a handsome residence in Fifth Avenue, near Sixty-first street, New York, and investing about $1,000,000 in her name in other New York real estate.

His life is also insured for $250,000 in New York companies, which it must be said, have taken a hazardous risk, as there are hundreds of men who live only to see Barrios buried.

Very few of them are in Guatemala. They do not find the atmosphere agreeable here. They are exiles in Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Mexico, California and elsewhere, but waiting for a chance to give him a dose of dynamite or prick him with a dagger.

Nevada has just adopted a law to prevent treating. It is drawn with great care, with a view to prevent all evasions. A fine of fifty dollars, or imprisonment in default of payment, is the penalty of treating in Nevada, and the money collected under the law goes to the school fund.

There are twenty persons whose gifts to colleges aggregate over $2,000,000. Three of these rich men—Stephen Girard, John D. Rockefeller and Asa Packer—gave over $1,000,000.

My Crutches Brought Me Relief.
I have suffered from rheumatism for seven or eight years. For one year I was compelled to use crutches. I tried various remedies, especially every sort of liniment, but none of them did me any good.

I saw in the newspaper an advertisement of Swift's Specific for rheumatism, and resolved to try it. I have taken four bottles. After I had taken it, while I was unable to throw away my crutches, I commenced using Swift's Specific last November, and have no further use for crutches, and only suffer a little at times.

My experience, with liniments is that they are of but little benefit, and that only temporary. The disease is in the blood, and must be eradicated, and that is the reason I took S. S. It is the best blood purifier ever used.

The Youngest Can Use It.
My child, when about one month old, was afflicted with a dreadful breaking out on the side of his face. I took him to the doctor, who did not think there was much in the matter, but the child continued to grow worse.

The little fellow was suffering so much and was so fretful that we had no rest night or day. We consulted other physicians and they did what they could, but brought no relief to the little sufferer. I tried everything at hand or that I could hear of, but without the desired effect.

About this time I saw an advertisement of Swift's Specific. It was recommended for skin diseases. I purchased four bottles. The first bottle did him a great deal of good. After using the third bottle the disease entirely disappeared, and the child is now perfectly well.

I would recommend S. S. as a household remedy, as it has brought both health and happiness to my own.

Murder Among the Circassians.
When in an aul or in the steppe a murder has been committed the relatives and friends of the dead man commenced the search for the murderer. When he is discovered the relations have the right to levy from him a so-called kun. This fine, which washes away blood-guiltiness, consists of a number of camels, horses, sheep and clothes, a special kun being due these who took part in the search for the murderer, to the person who actually discovered him, and to the judge. The fine, or wergild, for a woman is less than that for a man, and in the latter case it varies with the descent. Thus there would be a greater fine for killing a pure Kirghiz than for killing one whose descent was unknown. If the murderer cannot pay the kun, his kinsfolk must do it for him, and the payment and receipt of this fine is accompanied by a number of different customs. The occasion is a kind of festival in the aul in which the relatives of the murdered man live. Among the animals paid as kun the murderer's horse must always be one.

The family of the person killed have, however, the right to refuse all payment and to demand a duel with the slayer. The latter appears in the aul of the others armed from head to foot and mounted on his best steed; a certain distance off the avengers are stationed, and a wild race ensues. If the accused can get away from his pursuers he is safe from all punishment. He can, however, only be pursued to the going down of the sun, and directly the latter sinks behind the horizon he is free. If he is caught he is generally put to death at once.

A disgusted fellow from the southwest, who went to Washington to get an office, bearing a petition as long as the longest river in his state, was asked what he thought of the administration.

"It reminds me of the man's experience at the menagerie," he replied. "There was a gold-dug great elephant there and as the man stood by and looked at him the big beast slowly moved his trunk back and forth, aimlessly and without much animation, and swished his tail about in about the same fashion. The man began to throw small pebbles at the critter, but they rolled right off his tough, black hide, and beyond an occasional wink and an extra vigorous swish of the tail, the elephant didn't appear to mind it. To more effectually secure competent and well qualified jurors in the several counties of the State with the exception that the provisions of this act shall not apply to the counties of Pike, Tuscaloosa, Marion, Lawrence, Franklin, Blount, St. Clair, Marshall, Etowah, Cleburne, Shelby, Walker, Winston, Lamar, Clay, Fayette, Lee, Dale, Henry, Geneva, Washington, Mobile, Crenshaw, Choctaw, Covington, Escambia, Marengo, Wilcox, Talladega, Tallapoosa, Perry, Dallas, Choctaw, Bibb, Lowndes, Autauga, Cherokee, Russell.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Alabama, That the County Commissioners of the various counties in the State, or the members of Boards of Revenue in such counties as have such boards, not including Probate Judges, shall constitute a board of Jurors, who shall be sworn to discharge and perform in their respective counties all the duties required by law to be performed by the Judges of Probate, Sheriffs, and Clerks of the Circuit or City Courts of said counties. Such commissioners shall, in addition to the oath now required by law, take an oath faithfully to discharge the duties required of them by this act, and to keep secret the counsel of themselves and their associates, and not to disclose the name of any juror drawn until the venire shall have been issued for such juror, which oath shall be in writing and subscribed by the commissioners as a part of their official oath. Each commissioner shall receive in full of all compensation, the same pay he is entitled to receive as a county commissioner, or a member of the board of revenue, which shall be paid by the county Treasurer, upon the certified statement of the president of the Board of Jurors Commissioners, provided that in the county of Lowndes the Jurors Commissioners as now chosen by law, shall do and perform all the duties required by this act of County Commissioners or Boards of Revenue, and shall receive the same per diem and mileage as now allowed such County Commissioners and members of Boards of Revenue.

Sec. 2. Be it further enacted, That said commissioners shall hold their first meeting the next day after the adjournment of the Commissioners Court, or the session of the Board of Revenue to be held on the first Monday in April, 1885, and shall at such meeting elect one of their number president of the board, perform all the duties required by this act and draw all the jurors, grand and petit for the Circuit and City Courts to be held in the respective counties whose terms shall begin after the first day of July, 1885, and before the next meeting of Board of Jurors Commissioners herein provided for, and each subsequent regular meeting thereafter shall be held on the next day after the adjournment of the last regular term of the Court of County Commissioners, or session of the Board of Revenue held in each year. After the first meeting, if for any reason a meeting of the Board of Jurors Commissioners is not held at the time appointed for such meeting, a meeting shall be held on a call of the president of the board as soon after the time appointed for such meeting as practicable. Such Board of Jurors Commissioners shall meet at the courthouse of the county or other place provided by law for the sitting of the Court of County Commissioners or Board of Revenue, and no other person than said Jurors Commissioners shall be present at such meeting.

Sec. 3. Be it further enacted, That said commissioners at such meeting shall elect from the male residents of the county, over twenty-one and under sixty years of age, who are householders or freeholders, the names of all such persons, not exempt from jury duty, as, in their opinion, are fit and competent to discharge the duties of grand and petit jurors with honesty, impartiality and intelligence. Said commissioners shall prepare a list of the names so selected, stating thereon the place of residence and occupation of each person. If known to them, and shall file a certified copy of such list in a sealed envelope in the office of the Judge of Probate within five days after making said selection. It shall be the duty of the Judge of Probate to keep such list securely and not allow the seal of such envelope to be broken, or such list to be inspected by any one save said commissioners, unless under an order of a Judge of a Circuit or City Court of his county.

Sec. 4. Be it further enacted, That when said list is completed said commissioners must write the name of each person therein contained, with his place of residence, occupation, as it appears from the list, on a separate piece of paper, and must fold or roll such pieces of paper as nearly as may be in the same manner, so that the name may not be visible, and deposit the same in a box, which must be secured by sufficient locks and seals. Said commissioners shall, at their session hereinafter provided for, proceed to draw from said box first the names of not more than twenty-one nor less than eighteen to serve as grand jurors for each regular term of any court to be held during the next ensuing year in the county for which a grand jury is required by law, and next the names of the requisite number of persons to serve as petit jurors for each of said courts, allowing not more than thirty-six nor less than thirty persons for each week of the term prescribed by law, or, if the term is unlimited, for each week which in the opinion of the clerk of that court a jury will be required, and the jurors for each week shall be drawn separately and successively and every piece of paper on which is written the name of a person so drawn must be destroyed.

Sec. 5. Be it further enacted, That said commissioners shall prepare a list of the names of the persons drawn as grand jurors, and also of the persons drawn as petit jurors for each week of each term of court, and shall, after at least twenty days before the term of court, open such package and issue an order in writing to the sheriff of the county, commanding him to summon the persons drawn as grand jurors to appear and serve in that capacity, and similar order for the persons drawn as petit jurors, specifying in the orders the full name, place of residence and occupation of each person, when known, and the particular week for which each petit juror is to serve; and the manner in which said order shall be executed and returned all proceedings had thereon shall be the same as now prescribed by law; provided, that if any sheriff shall negligently fail to summon any person whom he is so commanded to summon, he shall be held guilty of a contempt of court, and it shall be the duty of the court to fine him not more than one hundred dollars for each person not summoned and he may also be imprisoned for not more than ten days; the return of any such person not summoned shall be prima facie evidence of such negligence on the part of the sheriff, and he shall be so punished by the court unless he shows good cause to the contrary.

Sec. 6. Be it further enacted, That the commissioners shall deposit in the box from which the names are drawn, copies of all lists furnished in the preceding section, and shall deposit said box, securely locked and sealed, in the office of the Judge of Probate. The seal of said box shall keep the key to said box, but the Judge of the Circuit or City Court shall have access to said box in order to compare venires issued by the clerk with the copy of the list furnished to the clerk. If a special or adjourned term of court in which a jury is required is called, the clerk of such court shall forthwith notify the commissioners, who shall meet and draw the grand and petit jurors, one or both, required for such term and shall furnish a list of the same to the clerk of the court at least twenty days before the term in the same manner as for a regular term, and the clerk shall issue to the sheriff the proper order for summoning such grand and petit jurors as for a regular term and the sheriff shall be subject to the same penalties for failing to summon jurors to a special term as for failing to summon them to a regular term.

Sec. 7. Be it further enacted, That a majority of said commissioners shall constitute a quorum. Said commissioners shall, at each meeting select one of their number president of their board, to preside at such meeting, and he shall continue in such office until the next meeting.

Sec. 8. Be it further enacted, That if any person summoned to attend as a grand or petit juror shall fail to obey the summons without good excuse, to be determined by the court, he shall be deemed guilty of a contempt of court, and if no sufficient excuse be rendered for him at the time of his default, a rule shall issue to him to show cause why he shall not be adjudged guilty of such contempt at a date fixed accordingly; if he shall fail at the next term after such notice to render such excuse, he shall be fined by the judge not more than one hundred dollars and may be imprisoned in the county jail for not more than ten days.

Sec. 9. Be it further enacted, That one out of the grand jurors so summoned and attending the court shall organize in the manner now provided by law, and out of the persons summoned as petit jurors and attending the court, shall if no capital case stands for trial during such week, organize petit jurors of twelve men each. If any capital case stands for trial during such week, the court shall organize a panel of thirty-six men, and shall then out of such panel organize petit jurors of twelve men each, and excuse the other twelve until the day set for such capital trial. If a sufficient number of those summoned for the grand or petit jurors shall not attend when such jurors or panel of thirty-six men are to be organized, the court shall draw from the jury box a sufficient number of names to complete such jury as provided hereafter in section ten.

Sec. 10. Be it further enacted, That when any capital case or cases stand for trial, the court shall, at least three days before the same are set for trial, cause the box containing the names of jurors to be brought into the court room, and after having the same well shaken the presiding judge shall then and there publicly draw therefrom not less than twelve nor more than twenty-four of said names, a list of which shall be immediately made by the clerk of said court, and an order issued to the sheriff to summon the same to appear upon the day set for trial, in like manner and under like penalties as provided for summoning grand and petit jurors in section five (5) of this act, and the names of the jurors so drawn together with the panel of thirty-six heretofore provided for, shall constitute the venire from which the jurors to try said capital case or cases shall be selected, provided that if at the time appointed for the trial of a capital case a jury should not be made of those summoned and appear, the court shall draw from the petit jury box a sufficient number of names to complete said jury; provided, that should any juror so drawn reside more than five miles from the court house, the said juror may, in the discretion of the presiding judge, be relieved from attendance on said trial, in addition to the challenges for cause allowed by law, the defendant shall have flight to peremptory challenge twelve such jurors, and the State six of them.

Sec. 11. Be it further enacted, That upon the trial of any felony, not capital, the defendant shall be entitled to eight peremptory challenges, and the State four; and upon the trial of any misdemeanor, the defendant shall be entitled to five peremptory challenges, and the State three. When two or more defendants are tried jointly for a capital offense or other felony, each defendant shall be entitled to one-half the peremptory challenges allowed by this act; and on the trial of two or more defendants for any misdemeanor, each defendant shall be entitled to three peremptory challenges. In civil cases it shall be a ground of peremptory challenge that a juror is plaintiff or defendant in any case which stands for trial at the term at which he is challenged. It shall also be a ground of challenge in any case that a juror is related to any party or attorney who was his attorney of record in the cause to be tried before the case was called for trial, by consanguinity, within the fifth degree, or affinity within the fifth degree, or is a partner in business of such party, provided, nothing contained herein shall repeal any common law right of challenge.

Sec. 12. Be it further enacted, That any commissioner who willfully or negligently fails to discharge any of the duties required of him by this act, or shall engage in any business, or shall act in any manner or order that herein required, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall not be fined not less than fifty nor more than one thousand dollars.

Sec. 13. Be it further enacted, That any person who shall attempt to corruptly influence any of said commissioners, or any other officer charged with the execution of any duty under this act, in the performance of any of his duties, shall, on conviction, be fined not less than one thousand dollars and shall also be imprisoned in the State penitentiary for not less than two nor more than twenty years, and shall forever be disqualified from holding any office of honor, trust or profit under the laws of this state.

Sec. 14. Be it further enacted, That said commissioners shall, as far as possible, guard against selecting any persons exempt by law from jury duty, and to this end may avail themselves of any source of information within their reach.

Sec. 15. Be it further enacted, That section 472 of the code of Alabama and all other laws, general and special, conflicting with the provisions of this act, be, and the same are hereby repealed; but all laws now in force, in relation to jurors, their drawings, selecting or qualification not in conflict with this act are hereby continued in full force and effect. But the provisions of this act shall not apply to the counties of Pike, Tuscaloosa, Marion, Lawrence, Franklin, Blount, St. Clair, Marshall, Etowah, Cleburne, Shelby, Walker, Winston, Lamar, Clay, Fayette, Lee, Dale, Henry, Geneva, Coffee, Washington, Mobile, Crenshaw, Choctaw, Covington, Escambia, Marengo, Wilcox, Talladega, Tallapoosa, Perry, Dallas, Choctaw, Bibb, Lowndes, Autauga, Cherokee, Russell.

Be it further enacted, That if any person summoned to attend as a grand or petit juror shall fail to obey the summons without good excuse, to be determined by the court, he shall be deemed guilty of a contempt of court, and if no sufficient excuse be rendered for him at the time of his default, a rule shall issue to him to show cause why he shall not be adjudged guilty of such contempt at a date fixed accordingly; if he shall fail at the next term after such notice to render such excuse, he shall be fined by the judge not more than one hundred dollars and may be imprisoned in the county jail for not more than ten days.

Sec. 9. Be it further enacted, That one out of the grand jurors so summoned and attending the court shall organize in the manner now provided by law, and out of the persons summoned as petit jurors and attending the court, shall if no capital case stands for trial during such week, organize petit jurors of twelve men each. If any capital case stands for trial during such week, the court shall organize a panel of thirty-six men, and shall then out of such panel organize petit jurors of twelve men each, and excuse the other twelve until the day set for such capital trial. If a sufficient number of those summoned for the grand or petit jurors shall not attend when such jurors or panel of thirty-six men are to be organized, the court shall draw from the jury box a sufficient number of names to complete such jury as provided hereafter in section ten.

Sec. 10. Be it further enacted, That when any capital case or cases stand for trial, the court shall, at least three days before the same are set for trial, cause the box containing the names of jurors to be brought into the court room, and after having the same well shaken the presiding judge shall then and there publicly draw therefrom not less than twelve nor more than twenty-four of said names, a list of which shall be immediately made by the clerk of said court, and an order issued to the sheriff to summon the same to appear upon the day set for trial, in like manner and under like penalties as provided for summoning grand and petit jurors in section five (5) of this act, and the names of the jurors so drawn together with the panel of thirty-six heretofore provided for, shall constitute the venire from which the jurors to try said capital case or cases shall be selected, provided that if at the time appointed for the trial of a capital case a jury should not be made of those summoned and appear, the court shall draw from the petit jury box a sufficient number of names to complete said jury; provided, that should any juror so drawn reside more than five miles from the court house, the said juror may, in the discretion of the presiding judge, be relieved from attendance on said trial, in addition to the challenges for cause allowed by law, the defendant shall have flight to peremptory challenge twelve such jurors, and the State six of them.

Sec. 11. Be it further enacted, That upon the trial of any felony, not capital, the defendant shall be entitled to eight peremptory challenges, and the State four; and upon the trial of any misdemeanor, the defendant shall be entitled to five peremptory challenges, and the State three. When two or more defendants are tried jointly for a capital offense or other felony, each defendant shall be entitled to one-half the peremptory challenges allowed by this act; and on the trial of two or more defendants for any misdemeanor, each defendant shall be entitled to three peremptory challenges. In civil cases it shall be a ground of peremptory challenge that a juror is plaintiff or defendant in any case which stands for trial at the term at which he is challenged. It shall also be a ground of challenge in any case that a juror is related to any party or attorney who was his attorney of record in the cause to be tried before the case was called for trial, by consanguinity, within the fifth degree, or affinity within the fifth degree, or is a partner in business of such party, provided, nothing contained herein shall repeal any common law right of challenge.

Sec. 12. Be it further enacted, That any commissioner who willfully or negligently fails to discharge any of the duties required of him by this act, or shall engage in any business, or shall act in any manner or order that herein required, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall not be fined not less than fifty nor more than one thousand dollars.

Sec. 13. Be it further enacted, That any person who shall attempt to corruptly influence any of said commissioners, or any other officer charged with the execution of any duty under this act, in the performance of any of his duties, shall, on conviction, be fined not less than one thousand dollars and shall also be imprisoned in the State penitentiary for not less than two nor more than twenty years, and shall forever be disqualified from holding any office of honor, trust or profit under the laws of this state.

Sec. 14. Be it further enacted, That said commissioners shall, as far as possible, guard against selecting any persons exempt by law from jury duty, and to this end may avail themselves of any source of information within their reach.

Sec. 15. Be it further enacted, That section 472 of the code of Alabama and all other laws, general and special, conflicting with the provisions of this act, be, and the same are hereby repealed; but all laws now in force, in relation to jurors, their drawings, selecting or qualification not in conflict with this act are hereby continued in full force and effect. But the provisions of this act shall not apply to the counties of Pike, Tuscaloosa, Marion, Lawrence, Franklin, Blount, St. Clair, Marshall, Etowah, Cleburne, Shelby, Walker, Winston, Lamar, Clay, Fayette, Lee, Dale, Henry, Geneva, Coffee, Washington, Mobile, Crenshaw, Choctaw, Covington, Escambia, Marengo, Wilcox, Talladega, Tallapoosa, Perry, Dallas, Choctaw, Bibb, Lowndes, Autauga, Cherokee, Russell.

Approved February 17, 1885.
ELLIS PULAN,
Secretary of State.

the names of not more than twenty-one nor less than eighteen to serve as grand jurors for each regular term of any court to be held during the next ensuing year in the county for which a grand jury is required by law, and next the names of the requisite number of persons to serve as petit jurors for each of said courts, allowing not more than thirty-six nor less than thirty persons for each week of the term prescribed by law, or, if the term is unlimited, for each week which in the opinion of the clerk of that court a jury will be required, and the jurors for each week shall be drawn separately and successively and every piece of paper on which is written the name of a person so drawn must be destroyed.

Sec. 5. Be it further enacted, That said commissioners shall prepare a list of the names of the persons drawn as grand jurors, and also of the persons drawn as petit jurors for each week of each term of court, and shall, after at least twenty days before the term of court, open such package and issue an order in writing to the sheriff of the county, commanding him to summon the persons drawn as grand jurors to appear and serve in that capacity, and similar order for the persons drawn as petit jurors, specifying in the orders the full name, place of residence and occupation of each person, when known, and the particular week for which each petit juror is to serve; and the manner in which said order shall be executed and returned all proceedings had thereon shall be the same as now prescribed by law; provided, that if any sheriff shall negligently fail to summon any person whom he is so commanded to summon, he shall be held guilty of a contempt of court, and it shall be the duty of the court to fine him not more than one hundred dollars for each person not summoned and he may also be imprisoned for not more than ten days; the return of any such person not summoned shall be prima facie evidence of such negligence on the part of the sheriff, and he shall be so punished by the court unless he shows good cause to the contrary.

Sec. 6. Be it further enacted, That the commissioners shall deposit in the box from which the names are drawn, copies of all lists furnished in the preceding section, and shall deposit said box, securely locked and sealed, in the office of the Judge of Probate. The seal of said box shall keep the key to said box, but the Judge of the Circuit or City Court shall have access to said box in order to compare venires issued by the clerk with the copy of the list furnished to the clerk. If a special or adjourned term of court in which a jury is required is called, the clerk of such court shall forthwith notify the commissioners, who shall meet and draw the grand and petit jurors, one or both, required for such term and shall furnish a list of the same to the clerk of the court at least twenty days before the term in the same manner as for a regular term, and the clerk shall issue to the sheriff the proper order for summoning such grand and petit jurors as for a regular term and the sheriff shall be subject to the same penalties for failing to summon jurors to a special term as for failing to summon them to a regular term.

Sec. 7. Be it further enacted, That a majority of said commissioners shall constitute a quorum. Said commissioners shall, at each meeting select one of their number president of their board, to preside at such meeting, and he shall continue in such office until the next meeting.

Sec. 8. Be it further enacted, That if any person summoned to attend as a grand or petit juror shall fail to obey the summons without good excuse, to be determined by the court, he shall be deemed guilty of a contempt of court, and if no sufficient excuse be rendered for him at the time of his default, a rule shall issue to him to show cause why he shall not be adjudged guilty of such contempt at a date fixed accordingly; if he shall fail at the next term after such notice to render such excuse, he shall be fined by the judge not more than one hundred dollars and may be imprisoned in the county jail for not more than ten days.

Sec. 9. Be it further enacted, That one out of the grand jurors so summoned and attending the court shall organize in the manner now provided by law, and out of the persons summoned as petit jurors and attending the court, shall if no capital case stands for trial during such week, organize petit jurors of twelve men each. If any capital case stands for trial during such week, the court shall organize a panel of thirty-six men, and shall then out of such panel organize petit jurors of twelve men each, and excuse the other twelve until the day set for such capital trial. If a sufficient number of those summoned for the grand or petit jurors shall not attend when such jurors or panel of thirty-six men are to be organized, the court shall draw from the jury box a sufficient number of names to complete such jury as provided hereafter in section ten.

Sec. 10. Be it further enacted, That when any capital case or cases stand for trial, the court shall, at least three days before the same

Neurosis.
The moment that a danger of impairment of mind and nervous system exists, or when there exists forebodings of evil, desire for solitude, and nervous debility or when insanity has already taken place, PAINEXA and MANALIN should be speedily resorted to. But it is never well to wait so long before treatment is commenced. The early symptoms are loss of strength, softness of the muscles, dimness of sight, peculiar expression of face, and eyes, cannot close, with impaired digestion, or in other cases, perspiration only is lost while they are otherwise enjoying comparatively good health. In all these PAINEXA and MANALIN should at once be taken.

Mrs. S. Smith, Hisville, Lawrence Co., Pa., writes: "Dr. S. B. HARTMAN & Co., Columbus, O. I have been a great sufferer for ten years. It seemed as though every organ in my body was diseased at one time or another. I had about given up all hope, when I commenced taking PAINEXA and MANALIN. I immediately began to improve, the soreness and pain disappeared, strength gradually returned, and now I am as well as ever in my life, and I owe all to your PAINEXA and MANALIN. I recommend it to my friends and it gives better satisfaction than any other medicine I ever heard of."

Miss Maria Roderick, Warren, Ohio, writes: "It is with pleasure and many thanks that I write to you to tell you of the great benefit derived from the use of the PAINEXA and MANALIN. I have been a sufferer for many years, and can safely say it has done me great deal of good. I have improved ever since I commenced its use."

Mr. T. J. Webber, Plymouth, O., writes: "I am selling your PAINEXA, and having a good trade in it. It gives excellent results."

Mr. Thomas Aeto, Brooklyn Village, Cleveland, Ohio, says: "I received a severe wound in my foot by tripping on a spike. It inflamed and was painful and swollen. I had every reason to fear lockjaw. Your simple suggestions as to local application and the taking of your PAINEXA and MANALIN were followed to the letter, and, thanks to you, my foot is entirely well, and I am happy."

A KISS BY MOONLIGHT.
Active, Passive and Legal Kisses—A Pedestrian Catches the Sound.

From time immemorial no one will pretend to deny that a kiss is held to be a high and noble act, whether active or passive. It has been decided that a legal kiss implies action on both parties; but when a lady simply consents to be kissed without action of her lips, it constitutes only a passive kiss—a sweetened and refined kiss.

Many long years ago, so says history, the Spanish student Victoriano became desperately enamored with the personal beauty and fascinating charms of Presencia, daughter of the King of Seville. There existed a law, being a line of demarcation between them, which he dare not cross; nevertheless, they managed to exchange sentiments and arrange clandestine meetings. Many times he sought the water to steal a kiss from the fair one while the public moonbeams were playing upon her classic features, and one time while gazing into the depths of her deep blue eyes, in raptures he exclaimed, "How beautiful that smile which has made thee so beautiful!"

"The constant use of a scientific blood purifier," was her only response.

Single enclosed within a boss-embossed envelope, a letter from a lady hid from view and sweet-scented nymphet whose beautiful dark eyes, alabaster complexion and voluptuous contour, seemed to dance the young gentleman's side, who ever and anon, while circumnavigating her slender waist, gave her a buss and then a rebuss, to the amazement of a pedestrian who happened to be passing that beautiful moonlight night. At the moment the letter was handed to ask, "My dear darling Sarah Jane, you are becoming more beautiful every day, your eyes sparkle with more brilliancy, your once pale cheeks have been painted by the rosyate hands of nature, and you seem to have entirely regained your health. Will you tell me the cause of the change?"

"I have simply used that wonderfully effective blood purifier known as B. B. B."

Thousands of ladies these days attempt to hide the blemishes of features and complexion, which impeded the blood is nothing at all a carnal among the organic structures of the body. Throw aside your cosmetics and paints, discard your life-time medicines, and use a purely scientific blood purifier, which acts speedily and effectively, removing with itself all dirt and grime at one dollar for large bottles. It purifies the blood, softens the skin, and gives it a certain glow and adds to both health and happiness to all.

Masonic Notice—Hiram Lodge No. 42.

Children and boys suits selling at half their value at Ullman Bros., Anniston.

The notice prepared of the meeting of the Press Convention at Talladega is crowded out this week by the jury law, published for the information of the people of the county, at the instance of the Commissioners' Court. The article will appear next week.

Ullman Brothers, Anniston, are closing out their entire stock at and below cost.

Masonic.

The brethren of Hiram Lodge No. 42 are earnestly urged to attend the next regular communication third Monday, April 20th at 3 o'clock P. M. sharp or the Lodge will lapse into its old status.

W. M. HAMES, W. M. C. H. MONTGOMERY, Sec'y.

The REPUBLICAN returns its politest bow and profoundest thanks to M. D. Z. Goodlett, wife of our excellent Tax Collector, for a basket bountifully supplied with early radishes, onions, lettuce, and mustard. This indicates the very earliest garden of the season in this section.

A full line of gents hats, underwear, and shirts at cost, at Ullman Bros., Anniston.

Our readers will notice that we have very much improved print this week over former issues. It is due to new rollers, which we have received from an Atlanta firm. Our friends who use the "Fourty Power Press" may be interested in the fact that they can have their rollers cast in Atlanta.

Chancellor Graham resigned to take effect the 13th of this month. The Governor at once appointed Chancellor McSpadden, and the latter gentleman, who was in New Orleans at the time, at once came here and opened court on the day it was to have been held under the law. The appointment of Chancellor McSpadden gives great satisfaction to the bar and people of this section.

Between the new road law, their regular term and their session to carry into effect the new jury law, the County Commissioners have been in session many days over what they expected or desired to be. These bills will increase the time of sitting of the Commission.

perhaps as long as a time again as has been their custom. The people should not complain at the Court for this increase, as they cannot avoid it, under the law.

With the new road law they have had great difficulty. It is incongruous in its requirements and it is very much feared it will work this year at least to deprive our county of much in the shape of road working. It may be that the future will disclose something beneficial to the people in the law. We very much hope so.

The railroad prospects are very bright for Jacksonville from several points of view.

For instance, the new road advertised in our columns this week as opening books of subscription for stock is considered one of the certainties by its projectors. Chattanooga is ablaze on the subject. Strong men financially at Anniston and all along the line are heartily in favor of it, and will give capital, time and labor to its advancement.

Of other projected roads we hope to speak definitely in a very short time. There is a great future awaiting this whole valley and our people have only to be patient, sagacious and enterprising to catch their full share of it.

Blankets, carpets, rugs, at cost at Ullman Bros., Anniston.

Prof. Ryalls, President of the State Normal School at this place, at this writing, Thursday, is dangerously ill of pneumonia or catarrhal fever, and members of his family have been sent for. It is greatly to be hoped he may recover. He is one of the most thoroughly educated men in the South.

Prof. Ryalls is one of only seven men who have attained a certain degree of proficiency among the students of the University of Virginia since its foundation. We doubt if there be so learned a man in the South to-day as he. His death would be a national calamity. He is young yet, and has ordinarily the promise of many years of great usefulness.

The acknowledged superior of all in the achievements of the schools, while here he has conducted himself as modestly as a girl and his whole dealing with our people has been marked by a charming unobtrusiveness. Hence, everybody loves and respects him and hence prayers daily ascend for his speedy recovery.

Small Loans.

In addition to larger loans which we are now daily negotiating through the Corbin Banking Co., of New York, we are now prepared to negotiate, through another medium in New York, fifty thousand dollars in small loans, ranging from three hundred to one hundred dollars, on one, two, three, four or five years time, with mortgage on farm lands as security. These small loans are quickly negotiated. In securing these loans it is necessary for us to trace title to the lands offered as security as far back as twenty-five years, and hence parties applying for loans should bring all the old deeds to the land they can find. Attention to this will save much trouble and secure a more speedy negotiation of the loan in every instance.

The Doctor's Secret.

Probably no new development will more surprise the public, than to learn the secret of success of certain leading physicians. When they have a difficult case of throat or lung disease that baffles their scientific skill, they prescribe Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, having it disguised in a prescription bottle, with their own directions and name attached. The patient is cured, and they get the credit.—Tribune. Sold by all druggists.

RHEUMATISM.

Although a practitioner of near twenty years, my mother influenced me to procure B. B. for her. She had been confined to her bed several months with Rheumatism which had stubbornly resisted all the usual remedies. Within twenty-four hours after commencing B. B. B. I observed marked relief. She has just commenced her third bottle and is nearly as active as ever, and has been in the front yard with "rake in hand," cleaning up. Her improvement is truly wonderful and immensely gratifying.

Jottings from Cross Plains.

BY JOT.

We are having frost every night, notwithstanding it is nearly the middle of April, fires are necessary throughout the entire day.

Building is all the go here now. New houses are continually going up on all sides. Cross Plains is fast growing into a city, and in a few more years, at the present rate, she will rank among the first towns in North Alabama.

I learn that the city authorities are about to open two or three new streets which will place upon the market some of the prettiest and most desirable lots in town. The demand for dwelling lots renders this action upon the part of the authorities necessary. I was informed by a gentleman who owns lots on the line of the proposed new streets, that he has already had applications for lots from parties living in other states. No doubt they will sell very rapidly after the streets are opened.

It pains me to announce the death of Dr. J. B. Cowden, which sad event occurred last Saturday. He was a good citizen and a skillful physician and his loss will be keenly felt, particularly by the poor, whom he befriended at all times. His death has cast a gloom over the entire community.

Our two railroads are preparing to build a transfer track in order to facilitate the business of transfers.

The new hotel is assuming real shape, sure enough. I was told to-day, that it would surely be built and that very soon.

We are looking forward to that picnic with increasing interest. No doubt it will be a grand affair, for I hear that the people are coming from every point of the compass. We hope each family will appoint a committee of one to look after the grub.

Let Jacksonville prepare to send a large delegation and let's have a real good time.

Good news to the ladies! New and beautiful embroidery! We received this week one hundred pieces of the newest patterns of Hamburg and Batiste edging and insertings. The prettiest patterns ever seen in this city—real beauties. They were bought at hard time prices and are cheaper than ever known. Call and examine. No trouble to show goods at Ullman Brothers, Anniston.

What Parents Fear.

Many persons—especially parents—object to many quack nostrums as likely to engender or encourage a love for strong drink. They are right. Better die of disease than of drunkenness. The use of Parker's Tonic does not involve this danger. It not only builds up the system, curing all ailments of the stomach, liver and kidneys, but it stimulates without intoxicating and absolutely cures the appetite for liquor.

A Word of Caution.

As is usually the case where an article of true merit has attained a world-wide reputation by its wonderful results, as the celebrated Electric Bitters have done, certain unprincipled parties have endeavored to imitate them, and expect to induce an unsuspecting public to purchase their fraudulent wares. Ask your druggist for the genuine Electric Bitters, that are guaranteed to cure, and take no others. Sold by all druggists at 50c.

That Dirty Dandruff.

Dandruff is dirty and disagreeable in every way. It soils the clothing continually, and is accompanied by a hardly less annoying sensation of itching. The scalp is diseased. There is nothing in the world so thoroughly adapted to this trouble as Parker's Hair Balsam. It cleanses and heals the scalp, stops the falling hair and restores its original softness, gloss and color. Is not only highly perfumed, an elegant dressing. Very economical, as only a small occasional application keeps the hair in perfect condition.

Elegant House for Sale.

The heirs of the late Mrs. E. L. Grant will sell the family residence in Jacksonville at a bargain, for purpose of division.

The building is of brick and contains eight rooms. It sits on an acre lot, about midway between St. Johns street, within a minute's walk of the public square, and has choice flower yard and shrubbery in front. The house is surrounded by fruit trees of the very finest varieties. The interior finish of the rooms is elegant, being furnished with marble mantles &c. All necessary outbuildings. It will be sold for less than the building itself cost. It would make a most desirable Summer residence, Jacksonville being the healthiest point in the State according to official report of the State Health Officer, and beautiful beyond description for its natural scenery. Sulphur, Chalybeate, Epsom, Freestone, Limestone, Magnesia and other minerals waters in the town or within a short drive of same. For further particulars address

GENERAL NEWS.

Thirteen States have official labor bureaus.

The bright weather of last week improved the wheat prospect in Virginia fully twenty-five per cent.

Minister Phelps is a keen sportsman, and his collection of small arms is said to be one of the finest in the country.

The late Frank Leslie, publisher, died of strangulation caused by a cancer similar to that which afflicts General Grant.

The youngest member of the New York cotton exchange is a lad of fifteen, and the oldest a veteran of eighty-two. The two are great friends.

John C. Calhoun, of Arkansas, grandson and namesake of the great statesman, is a candidate for the Belgian mission. The salary is $7,500 a year.

Miss Cleveland, says she approves her brother's political principles, and has "very strong principles," she adds. Another post campaign story is therefore upset.

A civil rights bill was passed by the Illinois house of delegates Thursday. It provides that all persons within the jurisdiction of the State shall be entitled to the full and equal enjoyment of the privileges of inns, restaurants, bar shops, public conveyances, theaters, and all other places of public convenience or amusement, subject only to the limitations established by law, and applicable to all citizens alike. A violation of the law is to be punished by a fine of from $25 to $500, to be paid to the person aggrieved, or to fine and imprisonment for the offense itself, as a misdemeanor.

At Queen Victoria's last drawingroom, Truth, of March 26, tells us there were some splendid eastern costumes, and an Indian lady, having kissed the queen's hand, offered her majesty an oriental salaam as she retired, to the great amusement of the circle. This lady wore a quaint but very becoming Asiatic dress of white, with over-dress richly embroidered with gold, and a regular eastern veil round the head and shoulders. She blazed with diamonds. Black was the prevailing color. The princess of Wales looked much better in her sombre toilette (which set off her magnificent diamonds very well indeed) than in the white dress which she wore at the first drawingroom. The duchess of Buckingham, in white and gold, was much admired. The queen was arrayed entirely in black, having discarded the white veil she has hitherto worn for one of black tulle, and her majesty wore only jet ornaments.

Attorney-General Garland is ineligible by General Lawton is the first suggestion of objection to General Lawton when his name was before the senate came from Mr. Edmunds, and found a ready second in Mr. Sherman. Mr. Edmunds seemed to think it necessary to disclaim all partisan feeling in the matter, but he could not conceal the cloven foot of his partisanship when it was made known to him that other nominations subject to the same objection had slipped past his scrutiny. He contended in the very teeth of the decision of the supreme court that the pardon of the president was only effective as an estoppel to criminal prosecution, but could not relieve from political disabilities. This, he argued even in the absence of the fourteenth amendment, was the exclusive province of the legislative power. Mr. Sherman coincided in this line of argument. But these two prominent senators, with all their ability and influence, were not able to induce their party associates to take a united position on the issue which they had raised, and it is believed that had the president not withdrawn the nomination it would have been confirmed when the vote was reached. At the very moment that the private secretary of the president was admitted to the chamber to communicate the message of withdrawal, Senator Vest, who was on the floor, had so effectively dissipated the arguments of Messrs. Sherman and Edmunds that unmistakable signs of concurrence with his views were evident among a number of republican senators.

Decision Against Looting Railroad.

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 9.—The railroad of South Carolina provides that the salaries of railroad commissioners shall be paid by the railroads according to their gross incomes. The Columbia & Greenville Railroad Company was assessed under the law $1,065, which was paid into the treasury of Richland county under protest. The railroad company then instituted suit to recover the amount and the case was heard in the court of common pleas yesterday. The plaintiff held that the assessment was a tax, and double and unequal one, and therefore unconstitutional. The state maintained that it was in the nature of a license and therefore legal. Judge Witherspoon charged the jury that the assessment was a tax and not a license and that it was unconstitutional and unconstitutional and instructed them to find for the plaintiff, which did. The state will appeal to the supreme court.

COLEMAN, Ga., April 11.—Under proceedings on an inquisition of idioty before the court of ordinary at this place, Blind Tom, the famous pianist, was today placed under the guardianship of General James N. Bethune.

The Alabama Press.

Talladega Mountain Home.

The Alabama State Press Association met in this city yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. President J. B. Stanley, in the chair and the handsome Tom Baine at the desk, the convention being opened with prayer by Dr. J. J. D. Renfro of this city. On behalf of the city of Talladega, Col. Jno. W. Bishop delivered an address of welcome to the Press Association, and was responded to by Dr. L. Hensley Grubbs, of the Decatur News.

The membership present is very large, numbering about 130, being the largest number present at any annual meeting for several years.

The Press was entertained last night by a Concert given by the ladies of the Baptist church and will to-day visit Anniston, Jemmer, Ironaton and Renfro, the mining and manufacturing centers of this section, and leave in a body at 3 a. m., in the morning to attend the New Orleans Exposition.

Marion, Ala., was selected as the next place of annual meeting of the Association, time to be selected by the Executive Committee.

Col. J. B. Stanley was selected as President with W. M. Meeks and W. D. Jells as first and second Vice President and L. Hensley Grubbs Treasurer and Tom Baine Secretary.

A PRIEST STOPS A FUNERAL.

A Supposed Dead Man is Discovered by the Priest to be Alive.

NEWCASTLE, Pa., April 13.—A case of what was at first supposed to be a suspended animation has caused a commotion among the physicians of this place. John Kennedy, a glass worker, residing in the third ward, age forty-five, has for some time been a sufferer from a complication of diseases, and on Thursday night was taken dangerously ill, the main disease being asthma. Dr. Montville was called, and in order to alleviate Kennedy's sufferings made a hypodermic injection of morphia. The patient grew worse, and Friday forenoon passed away without his having recovered from the stupor caused by the administration of the drug.

Preparations were made for the burial of the deceased. A grave was dug in St. Mary's cemetery, a coffin was taken to the house, and the hour for the funeral, two o'clock, had arrived, when Rev. Father Gallagher, who was near the corpse, thought he saw signs of life. A hasty examination showed that life was not yet extinct. The body in the region of the heart was warm and still infused with life's blood.

HORRIBLE DISASTER.

The Walls of a New York Five Story Building Gave Way, Burying Nearly Fifty Men, Fatally Injuring 13.

New York, April 13.—Eight five-story houses on Sixty-second street, near Tenth avenue, fell in this afternoon, burying the men employed there. Up to 4:30 p. m. ten persons had been taken from the ruins. They were seriously but not fatally injured and were removed to the hospital. Gangs of men are at work on the debris, as it is feared that many others of the workmen are still buried. The buildings were erected last winter and were reported by the Building Department as unsafe. Workmen were engaged in repairing the defects in the house at the time the accident occurred. No mortar was used in the construction of the walls, the bricks being held in place by sand.

Nearly fifty men were employed in and about the buildings. 13 of these were injured fatally. Rumors are afloat that a number are still buried in the ruins. Most superficial examinations of the debris showed cause of disorder and to be wretched workmanship and poor material. The mortar contained little or no sand but loam or mud instead, and was wholly unfit for use. This and the fact that the building had been erected during cold weather of wet and frozen bricks were directly the cause of the collapse.

The builder, Chas. A. Budden-sick, who was responsible, left the neighborhood in a carriage immediately after the disaster and drove to his residence, on East Seventy-seventh street. Where he went from here nobody could learn. The police, who arrested the master brick layer, Chas. Frank, could not find the builder. Budden-sick has been for years in trouble with the authorities on account of the "skin" buildings he has put up. The evidence given by Frank and Chas. Swazer, another brick layer, is very damaging to Budden-sick.

Almost Buried Alive.

LYNCHBURG, Va., April 13.—Pleasant Christian, a worthy colored citizen of Liberty, Bedford county, awoke and found his wife, who had been sick some time, apparently dead. Frinds were called in and decided that she was no more. The funeral preparations were made and the funeral sermon had been preached in the church before a large congregation, when the attending physicians, who had just heard of the circumstances, hurriedly appeared. He stopped the funeral, dismissed the mourners, opened the coffin and had the body taken back home. His suspicions of premature action were fully verified when an examination was made. Restoratives were applied and the woman is now on the fair way to recover. The affair has created excitement among the colored people.

PERSONS AND THINGS.

President Cleveland has given up pedestrianism.

The receipts of the confederate relief bazaar of Baltimore, footed up $37,000. The Georgia table brought in $1,603.86.

Three Irishmen have been governors general of India, Lord Wellesley, Lord Mayo, and Lord Dufferin, all Knights of St. Patrick.

Although Bismark is so devoted to the home industries in Germany, it is said that for twelve years he had all his clothes made in Vienna.

General Garfield's saying, "An ounce of pluck is worth a ton of luck" cannot be quoted against President Cleveland. He has a ton of both.

The woman suffrage bill in New York assembly received fifty-seven yeas to fifty-six nays, but failed to pass, sixty-five yeas being requisite to a constitutional majority.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Greely have planned to spend the summer in England. The Arctic hero has been invited to visit London as the guests of various learned societies.

Don Cameron is too ill to stay at home, and Mrs. Cameron is too ill to travel. Hence a separation. Mrs. C. will pass the summer in the residence near Harrisburg, while Don will court health at Los Angeles.

Miss Rhea has added to her repertoire a new play called "The Power of Love." It is by Sardou, and was acted in Paris under the name of "Piccolina." The play was produced for the first time in this country at Baltimore on Saturday night, and it is reported that Miss Rhea was well received. Miss Rhea enacts a boy in the piece, a young sculptor, and wears male apparel.

It is a curious fact that one of the most famous poems in our language appeared originally in a magazine that seldom touches poetry at all and the same periodical, after an interval of sixty-six years, now brings out another poem very similar in theme. Bryant's "Thanatopsis" was first printed in the North American Review for September, 1817. The May number of The Review, just out, has a poem by Robert Buchanan on "The New Buddha."

Count Moltke not long ago, leaving the reichstag early, did not find his carriage waiting and so took a cab to his office. On alighting he drew out his purse to pay his fare, when the cabman whipped up his horse and dashed away, crying: "No gold, Herr Field Marshal! The honor is sufficient!" But Moltke luckily had noticed the drivers' number, by which means he found out his name and address, and next day he sent him his photograph with the autograph inscription, "Moltke, to his cabman, March 9, 1884."

A Philadelphia newspaper printed last week a report to the effect that Mr. George Jones, the owner of the New York Times, is endeavoring to sell that newspaper to a syndicate, of which Mr. George A. Drezel, of Philadelphia, is the head. The price asked by Mr. Jones is said to be $750,000. Mr. Jones said to a reporter that he had no intention of selling the Times. "I have been offered three times the amount mentioned in that report," said Mr. Jones, "but the paper is not for sale."

The gay scenes of the opening day of the New York Bazaar were repeated Wednesday afternoon and night, when the entertainment closed, having been highly successful socially and pecuniarily. Nearly 1,000 adults visited the entertainment Tuesday evening, and about 300 adults and 150 children in the afternoon. The attendance Wednesday was about equally good, so that, at two dollars a ticket, the entertainment will net several thousand dollars for the Skin and Cancer hospital. The receipts for boxes alone paid for the use of the Metropolitan opera house. Wednesday evening there was a throng present.

With the exception of Mr. Beecher the central figure in the celebrated Tilton-Beecher case have gradually dropped and are almost forgotten. Mrs. Tilton lives with her aged mother. Mrs. Morse, in an elegant home in Brooklyn, surrounded by every comfort. Her two sons, Carroll and Ralph, live with her. The two daughters are happily married. Theo. Tilton lives in Paris. Mrs. Tilton has many friends and entertainers more intellectual company than can be found in the homes of a dozen of the best families in Brooklyn. Theodore looms up as a favorite among the stage beauties in Paris. That lively witness, Bessie Turner, is married to Mr. Schoonmaker, a son of an old Knickerbocker family. Frank Moulton is dead and his personal knowledge of the scandal died with him.

A prominent gentleman of this State who has had every opportunity to judge, gives it as his opinion that Hon. H. C. Armstrong of Alabama, will be given the consulship to Rio Janeiro and Hon. Charles L. Scott, also of Alabama, will be sent as the representative of this country in the Argentine Republic. He also said that Alabama would be given still another foreign appointment which is not yet determined upon.—Montgomery Advertiser.

Fashions for the Spring.

Silver jewelry grows more fashionable every day.

Black chenille fringes are finished with tiny gilt bells. Guilloché scarfs are the latest in ladies' neckwear.

Needle-pointing is a new name for art embroidery.

India corals, foulard silks and pongees will be very popular for summer dresses.

Large cheeks are seen in new suit goods in plain color forming the body of the dress.

A large cluster of gilt butter-cups is one of the prettiest of spring garnitures for hats.

An eagle's foot, with gold claws holding a ball, is a new style for an umbrella handle.

Decorative curtains are of fine white bolting cloth, hand-painted in some conventional design.

Humming birds of bright tinsel, five or more on a spray, are seen among the new artificial flowers.

A silk pillow, stuffed with odorous fir or pine, has for a motto: "Such stuff as dreams are made of."

A novel scrap-basket is a cylinder of rough and mossy birch bark, with a large bow of cardinal satin ribbon.

Black silk hose, with a fanciful arrangement of cards or dominoes, is a striking design for a fancy dress ball.

White woolen lace with a thread of tinsel interwoven is a very pretty trimming for morning house saques.

Jersey silk corset-covers are in pale shades of blue, cream and pink, and have the neck cut low and edged with lace.

Hand-bags, even though many new and beautiful styles are introduced, are becoming unfashionable for the street.

Wedding congratulations are now sent accompanied with a card covered with white satin, hand painted, and edged with swan's down.

New slippers are of chamois in all the new shades of gray and brown. Lisle hosing to match makes a very neat and tasteful combination.

Gentleman's sleeve buttons are "quite the style" when they are of gold, flat, square, highly polished and have a real ruby set in one corner.

Lamps to heat sealing wax are pretty for a lady's escritoire, when of hammered bronze with a lizard, snake or quaint figure for decoration.

Lovers of art work are now turning to the imitation of Gobelins tapestry, which consists of oil painting upon a canvass especially prepared for the purpose.

They Didn't Shoot Him.

Years ago, when but a few white men had seen the Rocky Mountain, and only a very few of the Western savages knew the use of fire-arms, a man named Fitzpatrick was one day separated from his companions while pursuing game in the wilderness, and was chased by a war-party of Indians. There was not the smallest chance of escape for him; but the young hunter made a feat of turning away, in order, if possible, to gain time. He happened to know that the savages, who as yet were little acquainted with the use of fire-arms, had several times, when they had taken white prisoners, put the muzzles of their rifles close to their breasts and fired them, by way of experiment, to see what would come of it. He therefore thought it prudent to extract the bullet from his, and then continued his flight. The Indians followed, and very soon overtook him. They disarmed him, and tied him to a tree. One of the savages, who, it appeared, understood how to pull a trigger, then seized the rifle, placed himself a few paces in front of the owner of it, took aim at his breast and fired; but when the Indians looked eagerly through the smoke toward where Fitzpatrick stood, they saw that he was safe and sound in his place. Quietly the hunter took out of his pocket the bullet, which he had previously placed there, and tossed it to his enemies, who were all amazed. They declared that he had arrested the bullet in his flight, and was a wonder-working conjurer; and, what was more, that some great misfortune would most likely befall the tribe if they did not set him free. They therefore cut his bonds and made off as fast as possible, leaving Fitzpatrick to go where he pleased.

"Look here!" called a man, pressing his face against the grates of the city prison and addressing Mr. N., who stood outside.

"Well?"

"What was I put in here for anyway?"

"You'll find out when the circuit court meets."

"Ponder, I am a very sensitive man, and the thought I have committed a crime haunts me. I just tell you for a fact I can't stand it. What did I do?"

"Well if you must know, you got drunk and shot a man."

"O is that all? I was afraid that I had insulted some one. Much obliged."

A Clear Skin

is only a part of beauty; but it is a part. Every lady may have it; at least, what looks like it. Magnolia Balm both freshens and beautifies.
